News and Gossip of Washington and Washingtonians Tersely Told.

The modern girl is very much in evidence on the Washington play-grounds. Here's a new line of ac- tivity in which she is engaged:
A two and a half mile race was run starting from Gall- ington Playground, Eighteenth and C streets northwest, yesterday entirely for girls. It took the form of a hare and hounds chase, the course leading over the fields of Potomac Park around the Lin- coln Memorial. The "hares" escaped, arriving at the starting point five minutes before their pursuers. Miss Katherine G. Whitcomb, director of the ground served a hot luncheon to the party after the chase.

Those who participated are Sadie Cohen, Mildred Shultz, Helen Chism, Margaret Keenan, Evelyn Shultz, and Lena Walker, hares, and Mary Fol- liard, Geraldine Harvey, Florence May, Mary McMahon, Emma Elliott, Rose Young, and Louise Hall, hounds.
